

NUS MSc Real Estate Double Degree

The launch of the MSRE-MBA double degree program in 2017 between NUS and Renmin University is a timely response to the increasingly critical demand for professionals who are multi-talented and well-trained in cross disciplinary practices to meet the complex challenges of rapid urbanization and sustainable developments in the real estate business world.

Globally, NUS DRE boasts the largest real estate department across universities. The Department has an excellent research track record and connection with global research communities in real estate, urban economics and city planning.

The NUS Institute of Real Estate Studies (IRES) and SDE Center for Sustainable Asian Cities (CSAC) provide platforms and support for multidisciplinary urban and real estate research. The faculty come from elite universities around the world and provide a wealth of cutting-edge academic research and field expertise to the students.
