Zicklin MS in Finance Dual Degree

Zicklin's Master of Science in Finance (MSF) equips students with the advanced knowledge and analytical tools needed to successfully navigate today's financial markets. The MS in Finance teaches the foundations of managerial finance, financial theory, and investments, and broadens your expertise in areas such as corporate finance, international markets, and mergers and acquisitions. The program is a 1-year full-time degree.

A school within Baruch College--consistently rated by rankings experts among the top performers in areas relevant to today's students, such as academic excellence, diversity, and value--Zicklin offers a wide range of part-time and full-time business degree programs that are accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB), taught by faculty who are thought leaders and active researchers and practitioners in their fields.

The MSF degree will be conferred after your MBA degree.
