

Yale Africa Ecosystem Lab

Looking for an opportunity to learn about and work in a dynamic and growing ecosystem? Ever wanted to work on solving tough challenges faced by a startup in an emerging market?

The Yale Africa Business & Society Club is organizing a 6-week lab partnering African entrepreneurs with selected teams of students. The goal is working together to solve a major challenge faced by the startups. At the end of the lab, the best proposals will be selected, and the teams will present in front of prominent active members of the African startup ecosystem.

The participating African entrepreneurs are leaders of the top 30 startups from the YASR initiative (www.yasr.org).

Students, regardless of their location, can apply in teams of 2 to 4 members or solo (to be matched with other students if selected).

Applications are due January 30th (link here)
Lab runs February 20th – April 2nd
Finalists present on April 9th
